

EXPLORING AVIATION BUSINESS AND EDUCATION IN TAIWAN

3 credits: AT 25800

Location: Taipei, Taoyuan, Taichung City, Taiwan

Dates: May 8-21, 2024

Program cost: $1,554.20

Taiwan holds a significant position as a key ally to the United States and plays a vital role as a pivotal hub in the global airline network, facilitating air travel connections between North America, East Asia, and Southeast Asia. Due to its consistently fast growth and advancement in economy, the Taiwan's aviation industry is currently witnessing a transformative shift in management, driven by the Artificial Intelligence (AI) that is playing a pivotal role in shaping the future of Smart Airports, marking just the initial phase of this remarkable evolution.

Contact program leaders Chien-tsung Lu or Abner Flores via email with your questions.