AN EQUAL OPPORTUNITY EMPLOYER

At Barnard, we hold our own in competition with the largest heavy-civil construction companies in the industry, yet we offer our employees a distinct medium-sized company advantage – at Barnard, you're not just a number, you're a member of a team. Your ideas count.

We're looking for engineers interested in construction and rehab of the nation's dams and tunnels. We also specialize in inland marine, oil and gas, utility, power transmission, and complex sewer and water pipeline projects. We offer environmental engineering challenges as well. From the outset, you'll brainstorm constructibility with a team of seasoned engineers at our home office or get your hands dirty in the field.

We offer competitive salaries, 401(k)s, annual bonuses, profit-sharing, opportunities for stock ownership, a generous family health plan (premiums paid in full), subsistence and airline allowance, moving expenses, and life and disability insurance.

Barnard's people are the reason for the success of the company. Our reputation attracts people who are committed to producing projects that set a standard for excellence. We safely build the riskiest, most difficult jobs we can find. We're looking for bright, innovative, hard-working people – those who thrive on demanding and challenging tasks and who bring out the best in others on their team. Our people are eager for responsibility.

We're hiring. Check us out.
