Browning Chapman launched in 2012, founded by partners who had spent decades in the construction industry. As a prime contractor, we've worked directly for clients that include: Amazon, Lowe's, Cummins, Huntington Bank, Simon Property Group & more. The services we're best known for are floor maintenance; concrete restoration; surface prep; polished & decorative concrete floors; epoxy coating and waterproofing of concrete & masonry joints. Browning Chapman is a respected company, but not a huge one. That means you'll start making an impact from the day you walk through our door-while still having the opportunity to learn from seasoned coworkers. Based on the north side of Indy, but we work in all kinds of facilities inside & outside Indiana.

In business since 1977, Willmeng is a locally owned and operated building contractor, specializing in ground-up and tenant improvement projects, with 120 employees. Under the leadership of James Murphy, President/CEO, they have grown from being a $10M company to $200M in the last decade, built on client relationships. Their dedication to the community is apparent, leaving a notable impact to the local economy. They are deeply invested in doing "more than their share." Leadership values being good stewards to employees and their families. The result is a culture balance of a true family-feel and professional execution. As a team of high performers, they have built a fun atmosphere that celebrates successes, individuals and family.
